RIGHTSHIP

In partnership with TRACE International, RightShip is conducting an anti-corruption vetting and certification pilot program. Vessels undergoing a due diligence review will be given compliance ratings that will be featured on “RightShip Qi,” a newly-designed online platform to launch later this year. Details on compliance ratings and benefits for vessel owners can be found here.

American Association of Port Authorities (AAPA)

On February 24, 2015, the AAPA hosted its “Maritime Economic Development Energy Projects” Seminar in Pensacola Beach, Florida. This program looked at emerging technologies and necessary handling components for storing, producing, and distributing both renewable and non-renewable energy commodities in ports. Presentations given at this event focused on opportunities for collaboration, investment, and risk management and can be found here.

Customs Brokers Association of Uruguay (ADAU)

The automation pilot project called Automatic System Management (SGA) program for the Port of Montevideo will be operating by May, 2015, according to the Customs Brokers Association of Uruguay (ADAU). This automatic identification system uses surveillance and ‘smart barriers’ technology developed in consultation with Valencia Port Foundation, one of CIP’s strategic partners. More information can be found here.
